

2008 Lloyd Reserve Shiraz

Background

Lloyd Reserve Shiraz is produced from a single vineyard at Coriole that was planted in 1919. The soil and roots are extremely deep and generally no irrigation is required. It is one of Langton's classified wines of Australia. The 2008 vintage in McLaren Vale was warm producing a richer style red.

Tasting Notes

A distinctive nose of dark fruits, coffee and dark chocolate. The palate is silky and lush with creamy mocha, blackcurrant and pepper. Fine grained, polished tannins and substantial length.

A tight, structural wine that will cellar for 15-20 years.
